Miss Oklahoma visits Chickasha Nation

Ayla, Okla., is a town just west of Oklahoma City. The Chickasha Nation is home to many programs and services, including its Chickasaw Leadership Center. The Chickasaw Leadership Center is located in the small town of Chickasha, Oklahoma. Chickasha is the capital of the Chickasaw Nation.

CNSA students hear words of encouragement

NASA scientist ‘just a small town Oklahoma kid who made good’

Dr. Mattioda’s advice to those wanting to pursue a career in STEM is to engage in community programs that provide both science education and diverse experiences. The STEM field offers opportunities for students to learn from dedicated teachers, professional volunteer managers and Native American peers near their own communities.

Students from across the U.S. attended the event offered by the Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) program at the Chickasaw Nation and Miss Oklahoma Scholarship Pageant in Tulsa. Students from Native American schools represented their respective American Indian tribes and nations.

Dr. Mattioda’s visit to Chickasha Nation was a result of his successful career as a Chickasaw Nation member.

Miss Oklahoma visits Chickasha Nation

Miss Oklahoma Georgia Frazier is pictured at the Chickasha Leadership Center. The Chickasaw Nation is home to many programs and services, including its Chickasaw Leadership Center. The Chickasaw Leadership Center is located in the small town of Chickasha, Oklahoma. Chickasha is the capital of the Chickasaw Nation.

Miss Oklahoma visits Chickasha Nation

CNSA students hear words of encouragement

NASA scientist ‘just a small town Oklahoma kid who made good’

Dr. Mattioda’s advice to those wanting to pursue a career in STEM is to engage in community programs that provide both science education and diverse experiences. The STEM field offers opportunities for students to learn from dedicated teachers, professional volunteer managers and Native American peers near their own communities.

Students from across the U.S. attended the event offered by the Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) program at the Chickasaw Nation and Miss Oklahoma Scholarship Pageant in Tulsa. Students from Native American schools represented their respective American Indian tribes and nations.

Dr. Mattioda’s visit to Chickasha Nation was a result of his successful career as a Chickasaw Nation member.

Miss Oklahoma visits Chickasha Nation

The Chickasaw Nation is home to many programs and services, including its Chickasaw Leadership Center. The Chickasaw Leadership Center is located in the small town of Chickasha, Oklahoma. Chickasha is the capital of the Chickasaw Nation.

Miss Oklahoma visits Chickasha Nation

The Chickasaw Nation is home to many programs and services, including its Chickasaw Leadership Center. The Chickasaw Leadership Center is located in the small town of Chickasha, Oklahoma. Chickasha is the capital of the Chickasaw Nation.